

Minnesota Needs Good Roads, and Gets Them!

It is a mean mud in Minnesota and such roads as that shown above are why voters decided to pull Minnesota out of the mud; at the right is shown a photograph of the new and the old in roads near St. Paul, a paved road and leading away from it a dirt road.
